

'a rather cold woman and her husband's social superior'

'very pleased with life and rather excited'

'easy well-bred man-about-town'

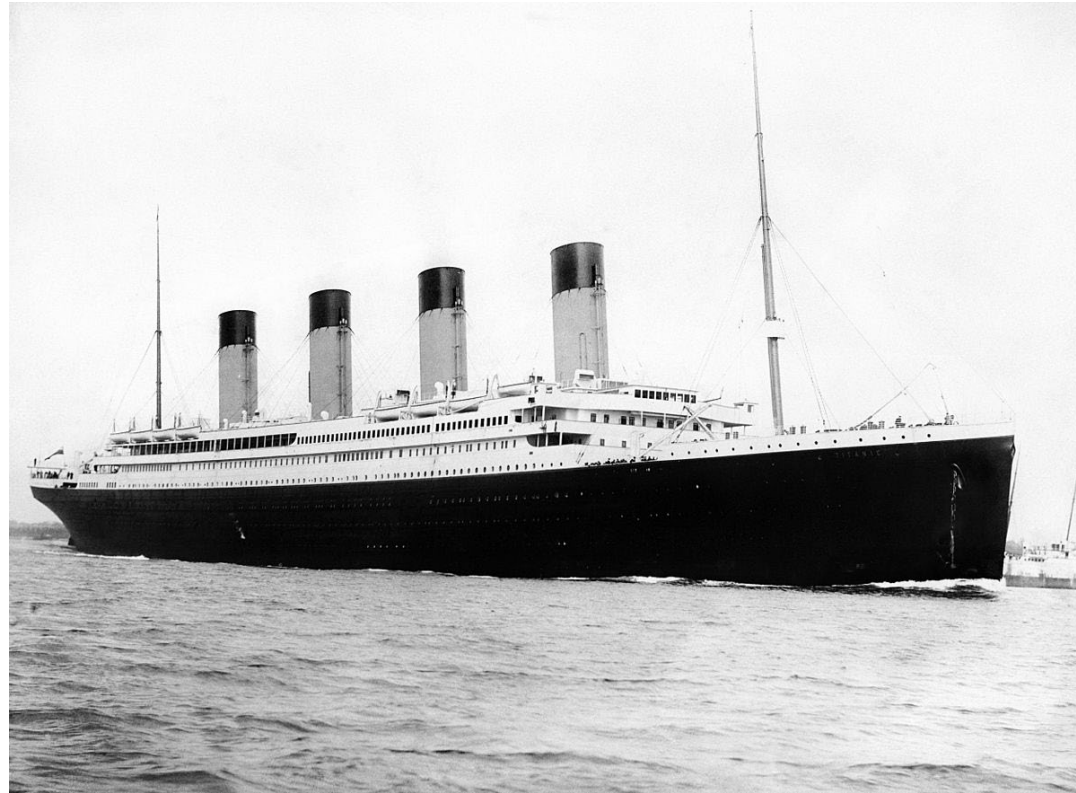

'You're squiffy'

'I speak as a hard-headed business man'

'...the Titanic- unsinkable, absolutely unsinkable'

'...he creates at once an impression of massiveness, solidity and purposefulness'

'He speaks carefully, weightily'

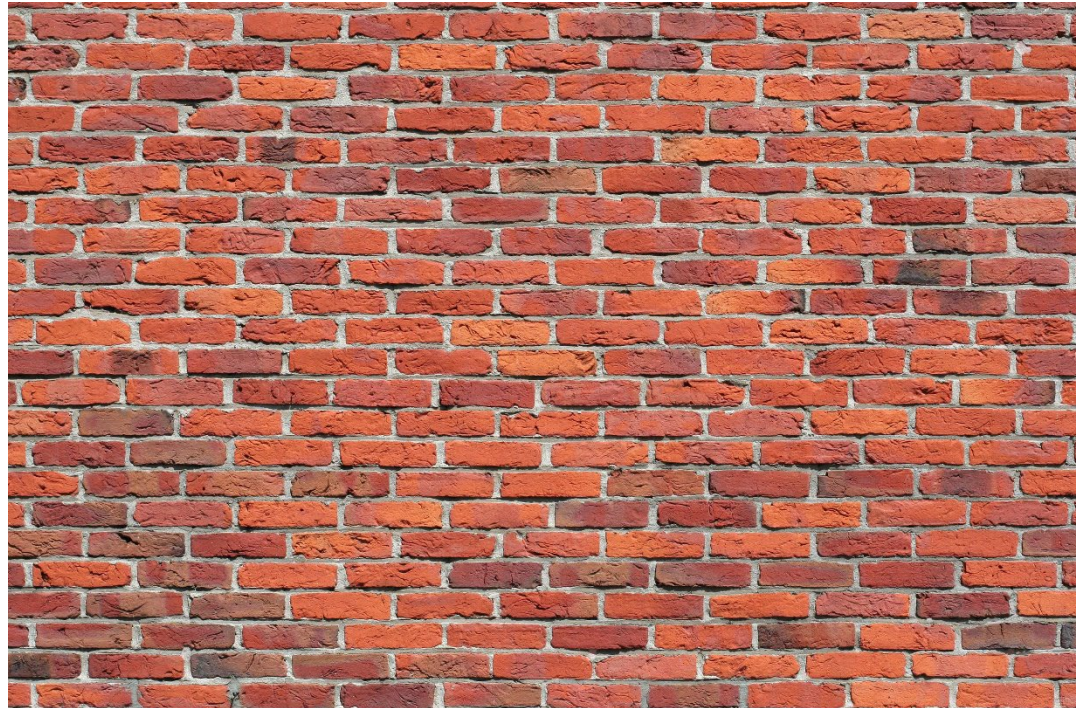

'But these girls aren't cheap
labour- they're people'

'(miserably) So I'm really responsible?'

'you mustn't try to build up a kind of wall between us and that girl.

'I think you'd better take this with you. (she hands him the ring.)'

'But I think she had only herself to blame'

'As if a girl of that sort would ever refuse money!'

Edwardian Social Structure

'Go and look for the father of the child. It's his responsibility...'

'I was in that state when a chap easily turns nasty- and I threatened to make a row.'

'Because you're not the kind of father a chap could go to when he's in trouble- that's why.'

'...but there are millions and millions and millions of Eva Smiths and John Smiths still left with us'

'We don't live alone. We are members of one body. We are responsible for each other.'

'...they will be taught in fire and blood and anguish.'
